

The Ability for one individual or one corporation to control the media market in a geographic region must be prevented. This is the first step towards state sponsored media and would be a crippling blow to our first ammendment rights.

I respectfully urge the FCC to consider strengthening the current cross-ownership laws rather than repealing them. Without these important regulations, communication networks and our abilty to communicate will be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Ken Wolfe